Covington, Ky., May 21. There has not been for many years, in this country, such a general complaint about chills and fever. This depressing disease is now prevailing in many ons of Kentucky and elsewhere, where the peo ple have long flattered themselves that they were en-tirely exempt from its influence. To those who are thus afflicted, we wish to recommend Smith's Tonic Syrup, believing it to be the very best remedy extant. Every one we have heard of using it, pror es upon it in the very highest terms. We have lately used it in our family with marked success. The ngredients are simple, and the Tonic can be used freely without any detriment to the constitution whatever. If the directions, which always accompany every bottle, are carefully followed, it will in nine cases out of ten result in a permanent cure, whether the disease be of long or short standing.

We take pleasure in recommending this medicine to the subjects of this disease everywhere, since believing that the use of it will verify every word we P. B. WILES. For sale by Bickford & Sinclair, Troy, Kansas.

Dobbins' Electric Soap. for White Cloud and vicinity, I append the opin of some of our best people as to its merits:

We have washed with Dobbins' Electric Soap, made by I. L. Cragin & Co., Phiiadelphia, Pa., and pronounce it the best soap we have ever used. The rapidity and ease with which it enables one to do one's washing is really surprising. Boiling the clothes is unnecessary, and no rubbing is needed.

Mrs. Spatiling. Mus. Spaulding,

We have no hesitation in saying that no housekeep-should be without Dobbins Electric Soap. We can eartily recommend it. It is a charm in the wash-tub. Mas. A BLOW IN THE HIGHT SPOT. — We last week copied a communication from a Quincy paper, exposing a travelling show. It was the same identical concern that exhibited here, Thursday afternoon. Our sho struck the mark, judging from the squealing of the outfit, and the pals of confidence men generally. Our city officers have told us that they have no doubt the exposure given by the Chief prevented many a person in Troy from being swindled out of their money. The show came, but very few people came to see it. The managers found out they had been exposed, as soon as they entered town. They first tried to evade the payment of license, on the ground that the exposure had injured them so much that they would not pay expenses; but they had to come to time. A special force of policemen were appointed, to arrest any and every man attempting any gambling or swinding game. Some of their sympathizers posted them, and they had to omit that. One of their female attaches undertook the bogus jewelry game inside the canvas, but the City Marshal compelled her to desist. Some of the crowd then went around to the stores, trying o sell or effect loans on bogus jewelry, but did not get a bite. Before the opening of the show, the boss made a harangue to the crowd, in the usual style of eloquence of the side-show orator, in which he culo-gized the honesty of his crowd, and complained that one of the papers had injured them, because, by an oversight, they had neplected to advection in it. At versight, they had neglected to advertise in it. At light, he repeated the oration, with variations. This little speech was inspired by the editor of the Bulletin, and contained a liberal sprinkling of the sharp say ings and slang phrases that pervade the columns of

The balloon ascension was almost a failure, but die ome off just before dark. To one who had never seen such a thing, it was a novelty, but to those who had it was tame. There were one or two good features in the show, but the balance was thin. The Chief can survive the displeasure of all conf

The Chief's warning was unheeded, and no precantions were taken by the authorities, as at Troy. The longus jewelry men and women opened out in full leather, on the streets and inside the canvas, and seced their victims out of from $60 to $100.

SUSPENDED .- The last issue of the Wathena Adres unces that the paper will suspend indefinitely and perhaps permanently. It says that there is a mortgage on the office, and that the mortgagee is ushing his claim, which there is no prospect of pay ng out of the patronage of the office. We infer that if ontside parties will come in and secure the more gage, the paper will go ahead; if not, it will be sold. taken to some place where they will give the ne

Even experience is of no avail in this matter; so we let it go. Next, and next, and next!

The last regular Saturday afternoon's races were interfered with by a drizzling rain; but not withstanding, the main race between Beecher and Charley Williams' sorrel mare was run according to appointment. Beecher came out far shead, and the patrons of the mare at once gave it up, and the stake-holders were about delivering over the wagers, when all were taken aback by the announcement that the mare had won the race by four feet, as Beecher had the start by twenty-four feet. Considerable indignation and affectation of fury followed, but the decision of the judges was not to be gainsayed, and the crowd had to admit that their eyes had woefully deceived them. The track has now been acraped and improved, until it is in excellent order, from which we infer that these races are to be continued.

In reply to your inquiry of "What is a lister!" It is a new sort of plow, which does the breaking and furrowing out at the same time, and is immediately folowed by the planter, which drills the corn, instead of the common method of check planting. An improvement on the lister is a machine much used it this neighborhood, called the "Farmer's Jewel," com-bining the whole thing, so the breaking and drilling are done together. Ten acres can thus be broken an lanted, out and out, in a single day, and in a shape which is claimed to offer advantages over the old method. There has nothing of unusual interest o this place, in the last week. Farmers have been very busy cultivating their corn, in order to hurry it out of the way of wheat harvest; but, after all, corn will have to be plowed all through harvest, and after, if justice is given it. It cannot but be believed that the yield of wheat will quite double that of last seaso besides being of better quality. Now, let those who say Kansas is a failure, come forward and beat her in wheat and corn. The next thing to be looked after is to market this crop to the best advantage. To those who are paying interest on borrowed money, (if not to all,) the first market is the best. Do not hold your grain and stock, and pay interest for doing so,

We will have a fair chance to know if the self-bin ers are a success, this season. There have been a great many sold throughout the County. Hope they will be as represented by the manufacturers, then we will not have to depend on men to do the work, who do not care whether they work or not-i. c., those who lay around the saloons, and in front of stores, on goods boxes, waiting for harvest to come. LETTER PROM LAWRENCE.

LAWRENCE, KANSAS, June 5, 1878. Entron CHEF: -To-day (Wednesday) is the last day of the Commencement exercises of the State University for 1878. The graduates, three in number, are all ladies, this year, and the commencement exercises of the State University for 1878. ladies, this year, and they have done credit to them-selves and to the institution. The weather, fortunate-ly, has been propitious, and the newly finished hall has been crowded every day, to its utmost capacity. There has been an unusually large number of visitors from abroad, and no one has expressed the slightest dis-satisfaction. The only cause for grumbling was the manner in which the literary societies conducted their programmes. They were ill prepared, lacked their wonted enthusiasm, and did not seem to the wonted enthusiasm, and did not seem to take the least interest in anything. The baccalaureate sermon, by Regent Ingalls, of Atchison, was one of the best deivered, and was listened to with wrapt attention throughout. Tuesday morning, the bust of Amos Lawrence, who contributed $10,000, some time ago, toward the University, and after whom the city was named, was unveiled. The formal address was made by ex-Governor Chas. Robinson, who was greeted with storms of applause as he made his bow. In the evening, C. W. Blair, of Fort Scott, held the large andience in perfect silence for two hours, by his clo quent and highly interesting lecture. It was one of the Colonel's best efforts, and it of course elicited much admiration. It would have been difficult to have selected a better speaker. His manner was stir ring, dramatic, and full of life; his gestures few, welltimed, and graceful, and his voice seemed to be perfectly adapted for a true orntor. Those who heard his brilliant words, will never have occasion to regret that they walked up Mount Oread to hear them. There will be no good reason for sending east for speakers, while such instructive, capable and wide-awake ornors as Mr. Blair reside in Kansas. Business is not improving much. There are only about six new houses being built in Lawrence, this summer, but we notice that there is a great deal of attention paid to constructing new fences and laying ew sidewalks. We think Alex. Hayes, who contributed such an interesting and graphic description of the battle of Get-tysburg for the Chief of May 30th, ought to be induced to write more about the rebellion. He has a style which is peculiarly fascinating. Card from L. J. Perry. PAOLA, KANSAS, June 7, 1878.

Sol. Miller-Dear Sir :- In your issue of yesterday, I find the following item: The Paola Spirit has been sold out, and turned into a Democratic paper. Perry must have been anxious to sell; but this operation will be a deadener upon his aspirations for the office of State Printer.

Several times lately, I have seen items in the papers eferring to me as a candidate for State Printer. That a mistake. I am not a candidate for that place, and have not even thought of being a candidate, since the ast election. If Mr. Goo. W. Martin is not re-elected. ome far better man than I am can doubtless be found to succeed him. I have too much legitimate b on my hands, to be a candidate for any office.

I was anxious to sell my newspaper here, on account of the necessity for my presence at West Kansas City, to superintend the rapidly extending business of our "Kansas Auxiliary Printing Concern." I have found it impossible to retain the Spirit, and continue my connection at West Kansas City, with any reasonal ope of success either here or there. When I was at Paola, things went to the Devil at Kansas City; and when I was at Kansas City, things went to the Devil at Paola. This state of affairs, together with a pressing need of more money, forced me to sell out. I found it impossible to sell my paper, and have it continued as a Republican organ. There were no Republican buyers at hand. The pressing necessities aforesentioned made it impossible for me to stand on the order of my going out: I had to go at once, or be ground to powder in the mill of bankruptey, on account of my beavy investments for material at Kan-sas City. Hence, I sold to the first parties offering to ony at a reasonable figure. As much as anybody, I feel that it is to be regretted they were Democrats.

At Indianapolis between the months of July, 1876, and March, 1877, a period of but eight months, the monstrous number of sixteen hundred and twenty-four Singer Sewing Machines, from one to eight years old, had been worked over and converted into new ones. At Lafayette, during the year 1876, over fee hundred old machines were worked over and sold for new. At Pt. costing the Singer Company from fifty to seventy centa cach.

The rapid accumulation of this old stock has deterred the company from pushing the manufacture of new machines at their factory, and to-day it is almost impossible to get a brand new machine through any of the Singer Manufacturing Company's branches.

So artistic are the machines worked over, that no one but an expert can distinguish between the old and new. It is not safe to rely on your own judgment in dealing with this unscrupulous corporation.

It has been proven in the courts of this County by unimposchables witnesses, that the Singer Manufacturing Company have sold old machines for new, and it is a significant fact that they were compelled to dismiss, at their own cost, many suits pending, to save public exposure of the frauda they had perpetrated on this community.
